The Woman's College of the University of North Carolina was the first institution established by the state for the higher education of women. Since the founding in 1892 many changes have brought about both physical and cultural progress.

In 1931 the General Assembly of North Carolina passed an act to consolidate the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, the State College of Agriculture and Engineering at Raleigh, and the North Carolina College for Women, into the Greater University of North Carolina. At that time the North Carolina College for Women became the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina. The Board of Trustees chosen by the General Assembly assumed control of the new university with Governor Clyde Roark Hoey Chairman of the Board of Trustees. A few months later they elected Dr. Frank Porter Graham its president. The Trustees of the Greater University of North Carolina are the Administrative directors of the school, and they endeavor not only to solve the problems of the school as a whole, but to provide for the needs of the students themselves and to keep the University abreast with the modern ideas of education.

ADMINISTRATIVE OFFICERS

DR. WALTER CLINTON JACKSON
Dean of Administration

MISS HARRIET ELLIOT
Dean of Women

The cooperation and splendid spirit of Dr. Walter Clinton Jackson, Dean of Administration, and Miss Harriet Elliot, Dean of Women, contribute to the high standards of honor and understanding which exist on the campus.

The Faculty and students have worked together to form a truly democratic community, and the government of the College is based upon the principles to be found in any well-organized society. Here the students find an opportunity to express their own ideas and to help develop a more ideal college spirit. The student government organization places a real responsibility upon them. The Faculty and the students have integrated their ideas into the formation of the Constitution. The law-making authority resides in a representative group of students and Faculty. All student officers are chosen democratically.

It is understood that many matters such as affect academic questions, matters relating to the health of the College, the control of property, and of special cases of discipline which are outside of student jurisdiction are handled by Executive and Administrative officers. But a close cooperation of student and Faculty makes the problems few and easily solved.

IN MEMORIAM

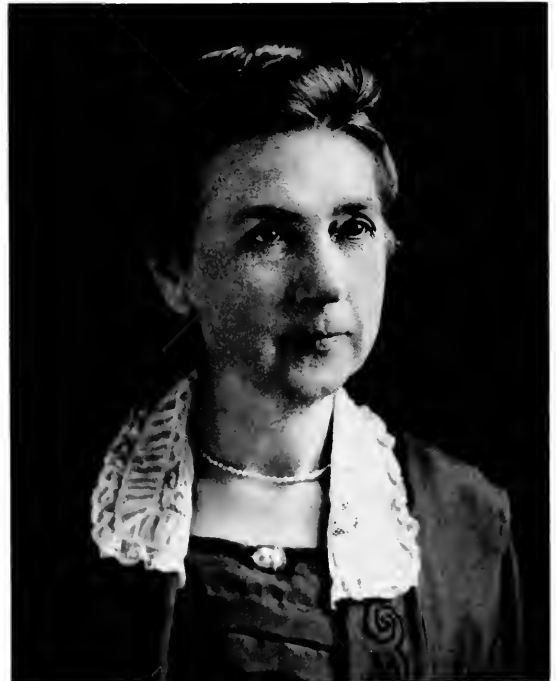

MRS. ELIZABETH McIVER
WEATHERSPOON

Because Mrs. Weatherspoon lived among us, it will be easier at the College to stand for genuineness as opposed to sham, and for accurate, as opposed to slipshod work; to cultivate the beautiful as opposed to the crude; to further what is generous and high-minded as opposed to what is petty and cheap. We believe she would ask no higher memorial.

MISS VIOLA BODDIE

Miss Viola Boddie lived by the same precepts she taught and her high standards professional and personal were attained with characteristic perseverance. Her keen sense of humor, ready wit, clever philosophy, and impartial judgment made her loved and admired by the hundreds she taught. A great teacher and a genuine lady leaves a memorial of work well done on the hearts of her students and friends.

COUNSELORS AND RESIDENCE HALL LIFE

Campus life centers about the fifteen residence halls which are the homes of approximately two thousand students from September until June. Each hall has a Counselor who acts as official hostess for her hall. The genuine feeling of friendship and loyalty which exist between Counselors and students creates a cooperative atmosphere and an understanding spirit. To these Counselors the students feel free to go for personal, social and academic guidance.

Unity, fortitude, and a cooperative spirit—these things make the Woman's College proud of the standards it has established and the tradition it has built throughout the years.

Every student of Woman's College is a member of the Student Government Association, and the success and spirit of our organization depends as much upon the individual student as it does upon the student officers. We live together here on our campus in an atmosphere of responsible freedom, and are all working toward the same goal—to strengthen our characters, our minds, our personalities.

This opportunity for self-government necessitates the serious efforts of student officers, the judicious use of powers entrusted to them, and, above all else, the loyal support of every student of the College. The responsibility is great, and our ideal is to render ourselves always worthy of the trust placed in us.

Like any other democratic form of government there are three divisions of our student government organization: the Judicial Board, the Legislature, and the House Organization, serving in their various capacities. All student officers are chosen democratically, and they work in close cooperation with the Dean of Women and the Counselors who have charge of the residence halls. Our faculty members are not to solve our problems for us, but to help us better face them, and we soon learn that they are human, friendly people, wiser with experience and study who are ready to believe in us and are glad to have our confidence and friendship.

Pine Needles

The Legislature is composed of the President of Student Government, Vice-President of Student Government, Treasurer of Student Government, the President of the Town Students' Association, three members from each of the classes, two members from the first year Commercial class, the House Presidents, and three members from the faculty. It is the official ruling body of the college. As a representative body, the Legislature strives to keep its finger on the pulse of the college, and to act accordingly. It strives to act according to the students' desires and for the best interests of the campus as a whole.

Members: Celia Durham, Chairman; Roberta Hardee, Barbara Jane Huff, Lynette Moss, Peggy Dean, Doris Grass, Florence Barnes, Rose Wilson, Nancy Ferguson, Neita Allen, Elizabeth Lamb, Dorothy Odum, Frances Radford, Nancy Scott Causey, Frances Furqueron.

Faculty Members: Mrs. Carter, Miss Draper, Miss Mossman.

LEGISLATURE

The College Judicial Board is composed of the President of the Student Government Association, the Secretary of the Student Government Association, five members of the Senior Class and two members of the Junior Class. A member of the faculty is elected by the Board to act in an advisory capacity. This Judicial Board, in cooperation with the Hall Judicial Boards, handles all matters of discipline on the campus which are not specifically delegated to other authorities. The whole purpose of this Board is to Guide and Help students.

Members: Rosa Baer, Eleanor Echols, Eleanor Horner, Ruth Gillmore, Carol Newby, Valerie Powell, Muriel Quo, Alice Suiter, Carolyn Willis

Faculty Adviser: Miss Louise Alexander

JUDICIAL BOARD

1940

HOUSE PRESIDENTS

Every spring the Student Body elects from the incoming senior and junior classes a house president for each of the residence halls on the campus. The seniors serve as the administrative officers of Student Government in upperclassmen halls, acting as the student advisers and presiding over the Hall Boards of those particular halls, while the juniors serve in the same capacity in freshmen halls.

ANNA HOWARD SHAW HALL, Virginia Ambrose; BAILEY HALL, Elizabeth Patten; COTTEN HALL, Annie Braswell; GRAY HALL, Janet Murphy; HINSHAW HALL, Anne Boyette; KIRKLAND HALL, Dorothy Bell; LAURA COIT HALL, Barbara Washington; MARY FOUST HALL, Rose Pully; JAMISON HALL, Alice Calder; NEW A HALL, Joy Carman; NEW B HALL, Virginia Hunter; NEW GUILFORD HALL, Lois Barnes; NORTH SPENCER HALL, Celia Hall; SOUTH SPENCER HALL, Marian Fisher; WOMAN'S HALL, Dorothy Coley.

HALL BOARDS

The Hall Boards, consisting of the House President of each residence hall and four girls chosen by the members of each hall, are in charge of all disciplinary matters of their group which come under their jurisdiction. In the Commercial and Freshman halls the House Presidents and Hall Proctors serve as Hall Boards during the first semester. It is the aim of these boards to give individual consideration and treatment to each case brought before them.

We praise thee today, our fair college,
Our Alma Mater so true,
May thy numberless daughters, wherever they roam,
Be faithful and loyal to you.

All hail from the proud class of '40!
All hail to our college so dear!

We will ever remember and cherish
The years we will spend with you here.

There is joy in the halls, on the campus;
1940 answers your call.
And the torch that you hand us we'll keep burning high,
And pledge you it never will fall.

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS and CHAIRMAN

Mr. Painter has guided the members of his class from the beginning of their freshman year until their graduation. Throughout those four years he was always near advising, suggesting, encouraging, and helping whenever and wherever needed. For the time and energy which he has devoted to them, members of the class of 1940 are deeply appreciative.

HISTORY OF CLASS OF 1940

It was six hundred and twelve theoretically sophisticated, but actually demure, high school graduates who materialized their plans of enrolling in the class of '40 at the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina. They arrived wide-eyed that September morning in 1936, trunks bulging with everything from the white ribbon, white tissue wrapped graduation gifts to the "drinking cup and a teaspoon" specified on page 30 of the college catalogue. Their home backgrounds, their I. Q.'s, their preparation, their finances, and their high school recommendations of "college material" or no were average and deviated from the average.

They found themselves regimented into climb-practically-to-Mars third floor Gray rooms, overlooking-the-park East rooms, and walking-until-you-are-ready-to-drop-trying-to-find Spencer rooms. Those who were fearful of being lost in the rush (and there were many) found themselves looked after, counseled, advised, and readvised by specified juniors, faculty members, and counselors.

They were herded into the auditorium—oh, how could one ever find that place alone—and perked up with pride to hear from the Dean of Administration that "we are glad that you made this college the college of your choice" and from the Dean of Women "you are a part of Woman's College now; you have much to gain from and to contribute to its well being." And some man who had been striding around campus and making an appearance more often than casually talked to them telling them what to do next and what to do if they forgot or could not find out how to do that. He had some far-fetched title—class head, class president, no, maybe it was called class chairman. His official office was incidental to them; they liked him for his sense of humor that relaxed the ill-at-ease, wonder-what-the-folks-at-home-are-doing feeling of Freshman Week.

They went through the ordeal of registering and carried their complicated looking schedule cards around with them until nearly Thanksgiving before they were able to remember without them where they were supposed to be sixth period on Mondays. They asked and answered "Where are you from?" "Well, do you know—?" on the average of sixty-four times a day.

They wore white for October's Founder's Day; they came to have a reverence for the formerly meaningless words "We raise our voices, let them swell." They haunted the post office in typical freshman style. They screamed and elated, "I'm a Deakean; my roommate's an Adellphine" and wore hair bows symbolic of their societies and feared the formal initiation. They came to realize that girls from skyscraped cities and from wide place in the road villages, above the Mason-Dixon line and below it could be fine—and occasionally, not so fine. They marked off 90, then 30, then 2 days until Christmas vacation on little desk calendars and big hanging on the wall ones. They came back from the holidays feeling much more a sense of belonging to the campus, and some even ventured to say that coming back to college felt just as if they were coming back home.

Ushered in with second semester were rumors of approaching elections. As their first president, the class of '40 chose Alice Suiter, a competent leader capable of making a reality of the lavender and white mottoed banner "Seek Higher Goals." Snake dancing out of the game room, serenading under her South Spencer window, and cheering on the quadrangle, the class tried to show Suiter how glad they were to have her as their leader. Into the class she helped to instill for the first time a sense of loyalty for and unity of the disorganized parts. They were losing that New York Grand Central station mob feeling. They became gorged with ambitious aims of college and after college success.

The freshmen of June had undergone a complete metamorphosis to become the sophomores of September. They felt old hands at this college stuff. Those who had tearfully left the freshman halls soon found that the maladjusted in upperclassman dormitories could with uncanny rapidity not only adjust, but could cultivate the same attachment to their new rooms. They played and were noisy in true sophomorphish fashion, and the disapproval which the juniors and seniors might have had was rationalized by "they are having fun" smiles. Mass meetings ceased to be merely attendance required gatherings but took on a revised atmosphere. The "required" was superfluous, they thought; they would not dare to miss one. Besides they were seated downstairs in the auditorium now, graduated from that nobody-cares-where-you-are section—the balcony.

Elections again, and as president came into office a leader early recognized as such, Ruth Gillmore. The class was more and more able to look at itself objectively, as a whole made up of parts not in any sense of the word standardized but rather loyalized. For their jackets the class selected white gabardine with a lavender 1940 seal on the pocket. They paraded in them in a manner that would have made Beau Brummel jealous. They presented a traditional sophomore Christmas pageant whose impressive effect brought tears to the eyes of the audience. Their ingenuity was shown in the college project which they selected: that of putting up name plates in front of all the dormitories on the campus.

The next fall they were back for Freshman Week, but in a reversed position, advisers instead of advisees. As their president they had selected one of their number who had been introduced once by the head of the department in which she was majoring as "the girl with the best sense of humor in this college"—Ellen Griffin. By her witty cleverness, Ellen was able to show the sprouting freshman class that a big sister class could really be an asset. She led the junior class in entertaining them, in counseling them.

Being a junior was so self-satisfying. They were among the looked up to on the campus but still a long way from being those thought of as dignified. There was much of a prevailing air among them as if they all had taken a dose of "Quiet Please" medicine; and although they retained all of their spirit, there was a quietus on suggestions of boisterousness carried over from the sophomore year. There was such a difference between the sophomore and junior years; they seemed to have gotten a fresh off the press, entirely revised edition of eyes with which to get a better perspective of the situation in general. Maybe there could have been an inkling of a reason in the fact that they were all in their major fields of concentrated study now, and presumably they were most interested in these specialized courses of now.

They went around with their hands in such obviously conspicuous positions that an outsider might have thought them advertising for some new brand of hand lotion or finger nail polish. None of this at all though—they had on their new black sealed in a dull gold mounting college rings.

They had a jitterbuggy Junior Shoppe. They were more than ever hockey conscious and broke all precedent by doing the prophesied impossible, surely improbable act of defeating the senior team. They marched on Raleigh to oppose the legislature plans of increasing tuition. They feared the Men from Mars and the pending wiping out of civilization by them.

Probably the first faint realization that they were only slightly short of being seniors came when their names appeared on the ballots for major elections and when they were elected society and club presidents. Then at the Class Day exercises of the previous graduating class, the red bow was removed from the shovel and the lavender bow, the class of 1940 bow, automatically became the top. It gave them a kind of sickenly-sad feeling inside. Here they were SENIORS! Where had the past three years gone? Surely the months must have shrunk to fifteen days instead of their customary thirty.

The senior year, the last year, the nine months into which they must cram everything which they had delayed or neglected doing was here. They were those persons they had looked up to as freshmen, sophomores, and even juniors. Strange that they did not feel as they had imagined "dignified seniors" felt. Why, there was not such a wide gap between the first and last years after all. They felt no older than the freshmen, just a little more mature in their thinking maybe and a little more familiar with the campus. If somebody would only lasso Time and tie it to a hitching post until they could merely make a dent in the barricade of things to be done.

Their president—Valerie Powell.

There were last times they would ever do this; last times they would ever do that. And in spite of the "we'll be glad when the work is all over" feeling, they envied the under classmen with one, two, and three years more ahead of them in college. They took last minute grabs at elective courses under Alexander, Friedlaender, Shivers and innumerable others without which they felt a college course would be incomplete. They exchanged annual pictures, which in an unbelievably short time would look much out of style but which would still be treasured. They dreaded being the first class to labor under threatening comprehensive examinations. They became vitally affiliated with various extra-curricular activities; and where formerly they had been obscure mere members, now they were more often than not chairmen, heads, leaders, and presidents of the groups.

They were fearful lest they had chosen the wrong major field. The grass always looks greener in distant pastures, and they looked over to other majors and wondered if they might not fare better were they in one of those. The uneasiness of after college kept bobbing up to haunt their consciences. They passed through a stage of feeling a Baby Rayish illiteracy; they were just learning how very much there was to learn and to attempt to try to know. Sparks of confidence were ignited in them—some to be kindled, some to be extinguished.

The class of 1940 plugged towards the final graduation exercises a much more enlightened, a much better educated in every sense of the word, a much broader in outlook, a much more mature, a much better rounded group than the wide eyed freshmen of the September morning, 1940, these four years ago.

The frequently seen man of Freshman Week very rapidly became a familiar personality, and one of the first things that the class of 1940 came to realize was how fortunate it was to have Mr. James Painter as its chairman. Their seemingly at the time insurmountable problems they found could be worked out understandingly, accurately, easily, and more often than not humorously, in his office. In him every student from the most obscure to the most prominent found a friend devoted to everything of, by and for the class of 1940 and to its members collectively and individually. As for his personal popularity, the senior class meeting at which the person to whom the class would dedicate its annual was to be decided sent vibrations through the rafters and students raised not one but both hands to vote "Yea," stomped the floor, and voiced in very undignified but hundred per cent affirmative approval, the suggestion of selecting the chairman of the class.

If the class was fortunate in the chairman which it had, it was no less fortunate in having Miss Harriet Elliott as Dean of Women and Dr. Walter Clinton Jackson as Dean of Administration. To them each student was a distinct individual with a personality, maladjustments, specific capacities to adjust, and personal abilities all her own, and anything but a stereotyped duplicate of her classmates. They always understood and regardless of their decisions pro or con, the students could be assured that they had weighed both sides and every detailed angle before voicing an opinion, making a suggestion, or reaching any conclusion. The class of '40 found them to be sincere in their insistence that students stop in their offices to see them. They found that they would talk not to two executives, but to two companionable persons.

They, too, were glad that they had made Woman's College of the University of North Carolina the college of their choice. In four years, they, too, had come to realize that they had much to gain from and to contribute to their college. They had memories to hold, friendships to cherish, learning to retain, and better abilities with which to enjoy life. With bursting hearts they could "praise them today our fair college," and every other day for as long as they would live.

SENIOR CLASS POEM

The Chellean
Driven by primal urge
Went forth,
Naked, empty-handed.
Saw the tusked mammoth
Heard the stealthy puma
Felt the hindering woodbine's coil
Saw, heard, felt, and retreated
Back into the dim recesses
Of the cave-mouth.
The primitive one
Then fashioned a rude instrument
From a flint nodule,
And again went forth.
Walked slowly stealthily,
And struck!
Fed upon the prey
He conquered.
Clothed himself
In panther-pelt.
Armed with the
Carved javelin
Swift and piercing strokes
He dealt.
Not alone was joy in hunting
Altamira is out witness
With its heavy-headed bison.
Painted on the cavern ceilings
In the cave of Font-de-Gaume
Stand the reindeer
And the mammoth
Giving their mute testimony.

In the valley of the rivers,
Of the Tigris and Euphrates
Lived the hearty Semite peoples
With their molded painted vessels.
Lived in peace
And lived in plenty,
Till the merciless Sumerian
Swept upon them
And o'erwhelmed them.
Oh, ye mighty-minded Sumerian
Who first did speak
And use a language,
Who evolved
The wedged cunieforn,
Ultimate ancestor
Of our syllabic speech.
Greater legacy is this
Than all the philosophic reams.
Primitive man has laid the cornerstone.
He was the vessel progress chose.
He was the doer,
His were dreams.
Our roots grow deeper
Than we know.

There is a parallel.
We, weaponless appeared
Have marched
Onward, upward.
Armed now—
We hold Truth's
Shining sword.
We, who sought knowledge
Now are clothed
In Scholarship's dark-hued vestments.
Awakened to Culture's splendid world
Speaking the language
Of the Wise
We press forward.
There are worlds yet
To be conquered
And shining,
Through the Futures mist,
New horizons meet our eyes.

FAMOUS WOMEN OF CLASS OF 1940

HOLD REUNION AT WOMAN'S COLLEGE

(Special to The New York Times)

GREENSBORO, N. C., Oct. 5, 1967—Nationally known women in many fields of endeavor, all alumnae of the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina, class of 1940 held a class reunion in the white-columned Alumnae house on the campus of Woman's College here today. Occasion for the reunion was the seventy-fifth anniversary of the founding of the college known as "the alma mater of famous women".

The beautiful 200-acre campus was dusted with a light snowfall three feet deep. More than 3,500 students in white snow suits, attended the traditional Founder's Day exercises in the recently enlarged Aycock auditorium. The costumes were adopted as the customary college attire in tribute to the Finns of '40, a year which ushered in the changing weather conditions which bring an August-to-April winter to the south-land.

Prominent alumna, Ruth Gillmore, well-known as the woman mayor of the city of Boston, and specialist in personal adjustments made a short address to her classmates on the subject of politics for women.

Alice Surter Christian, mother and inspired coach of the professional football team, the "Crimson Christians", and Valerie Powell Jones, whose portrait entitled "American Womanhood" by the young artist Remm-Gogh won the International award last year, were seen chatting together.

Nancy Yates, first woman Secretary of the Treasury, who balanced the national budget with her popular maxim, "A little bit more will do it!" dropped the national financial worries and relaxed in the pleasant upstairs rooms of the Alumnae house.

Anne Tillinghast, who has just published the sixth volume of CASE WORK IN NORTH CAROLINA COMMUNITIES discussed sociological problems with her friend, Natalie Krug, who is currently on a lecture tour of the south describing for audiences her method of writing American history in terms of mental tests given to a cross section of the population of the United States. Miss Krug received her first impetus in the field as historian of the class of '40.

Celia Durham Trabue, woman legislator who introduced the successful bill in Congress for the 25-hour day was accompanied by her two daughters, Celia and Dougline, who are making their debut into Washington society this winter.

Other outstanding women gathered in beautiful Alumnae house were Muriel Qua and Marian Fisher, founders of the Fishaquarium; Christina Changaris, designer of long brushes for short painters which were endorsed by Mr. James Painter, adviser to the class of 1940; Eunice King, counselor-confidant of the Archbishop of Canterbury. Ellen Griffin entertained with extracts from her book which has changed the whole character of American humor, FROM BITTER HUMOR TO BETTER LAUGHTER MUSCLES.

Anne Pike Lamb, wife of the Prime Minister of Canada came from her home in Quebec, as did Jean Noel Yorborough of the Bahama Islands, and Helen Wycant Bussey of Brazil.

Also present were Lynette Moss Tender, wife of multi-millionaire B. R. Tender who made his first million as director of the famous Hotel Des Moines Coffee Shop. Mrs. Tender dissolved the famous chemistry partnership of Wyattte and Moss with her marriage. Frances Hall Smith, wife of Chief Justice Smith came from her Washington home. Dorothy Herbert, author of SINCE THE FORTIES, a brilliant work of post-war England, came to Greensboro direct from New York where she docked yesterday.

Women of interest in the business world who were present included Josephine Kellogg, advertising expert and editorial group head of the Hugh Henry Advertising company; Emily Goodrum, secretary to the American editor of the Encyclopedia Britannica; Emma Sharpe Avery, personnel manager of Best and Company; Jean Kinsey, director of the Traveler travel bureau; Betty Burns, secretary to the mayor of the growing city of Lumberton, N. C.; Mary Day, head of the circulation department of the New York HERALD-TRIBUNE; Dorothea Matthews, holder of the world's record for typing speed for whom the new Flyenkeys typewriter was designed; Mildred Haugh, distinguished ex-manager of the Palmer House of Chicago who is opening her new entertainment center in New York within the week. Miss Haugh's Bar Tavern widely publicized throughout the nation is expected to add many new angles to the night life of the nation. Marguerite Koonce motored to the reunion from her beautiful home "Brown Acres" near Murfreesboro, N. C. Miss Koonce originated the popular Date-While-You-Wait bureau, well-known throughout the South. Ruby Morgan, founder and manager of the Morgan Meals cafeterias chain was present, as was one of her competitors for the feeding of the country, Adell Sherard, inventor of Sherard's Sure Shredd, condensed breakfast food which makes it possible to eat breakfast on the way to work.

Kate Black, famous court stenographer, Josephine Conley, dictation expert who once dictated 9,866 words per minute; Esther Landner of the planning and research department of Macy's; Patsy Jones, member of the Board of Trustees of Woman's College; and Mary Frances Futrell, prominent social reformer of North Carolina attended the class reunion.

Helen Cunningham, who is famous as player of the bells at Bok Bell Tower in Florida renewed her acquaintance with Elizabeth Holmes, composer of the music used in the filming of the "Great American Saga" which featured the handsome blonde opera star, Annie Lea Rose, Miss Rose, also of the class of '40, is on the West Coast and was unable to attend the reunion. Other personalities in the field of music who gathered in Alumnae house included Frances Harward, called "the pianist who made of the piano a symphony orchestra"; Sarah Pardo responsible for the sudden improvement of music broadcast from her native stations in Cuba; Kathryn Saltman, pianist for the Philadelphia Philharmonic symphony; Betsy Davison, band leader and originator of the recent rhythm vogue, the "swing canter"; Catherine Stanton, state supervisor of music; and Madelyn Schultz, first soprano in the Riverside choir.

Graduates of the class of '40 include several women destined to become nationally known scientists. Present here today were Roberta Hardee, leading laboratory technician in the firm of the Better Pipe Lines Company of Texas; Eleanor Horner, prominent archeologist; Marjorie Swanson, anthropologist and author of WHY MAN? who conducts Sunday afternoon radio discussion groups; Naomi Daniel, outstanding roentgenologist; Nel Moore, dietitian for the United States army responsible for the prime physical condition of our standing army; and Katherine Britten, technologist and inventor of Britten tooth powder.

Lois Barnes, illustrator of children's books; Evelyn Brown, designer preeminent of the best in American furnishings; Emeline Roberson, founder of the Ocrocoke School of Art; Hilda Brady, director of the Modern American Art museum all received their initial art training in the art department of the Woman's College. Other alumnae artists and decorators included Mary Frances Hawkins, fashion illustrator of HARPER'S BAZAAR, and the Rebecca Davis-Prather Sisk decorator team. Miss Davis and Miss Sisk who became famous as beach club interior artists have just redecorated the Gold Room of the White House.

Eleanor Ross, brilliant author of the Pulitzer Prize winning book WE SAY IN THE COUNTRY, headed the group of women writers who held a discussion in the library of the Alumnae house. Joyce Chambliss, the women's poet, autographed a copy of her SONNETS IN GOLD FILIGREE for the library of the Alumnae house. Other literary lights included Kathryn Holman, scenario editor of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer; Elizabeth Pettigrew, interesting author of a series of articles "Agrarianism in South Carolina"; Alice Sircam, theatre critic for the NEW YORKER; Maude Staton, revealing columnist for VOGUE, author of BEHIND HER FOREHEAD; Dorothy Kanipe, author of children's books; Dorothy Lovell, author of MEMOIRS OF HORDES OF CASANOVAS, Anne Shook, author of CURRITUCK TALES or HOW WE LIVE HAPPILY ON PIG FEET AND TURNIP GREENS.

Martha Lee Martin, head of the history department of Columbia university and author of the most scholarly work done by a woman on Neanderthal man explained her theories to Margaret Wyattte, chemistry editor of the New York Encyclopedia.

Betty Brown, famous statistician who computed for the government how much the United States saved by staying out of the last war, and Mary Irma Rives, collector of statistics for the Department of Agriculture exchanged notes. Frances Barringer, professor of Mathematics at Woman's

Pine Needles

College and Eleanor Coshwell, supervisor of the teaching of mathematics in North Carolina were also present.

Dorothy Coley, originator of the famous "Collida in the Air" trapeze act with Barnum and Bailey circus promised to do her act in the gymnasium at a special performance. Louise Meroney, head of Roney Rhythm School and Peggy Snowden, founder of the Allie School of Dance, both received training in the Woman's College physical education department. Mataoka Torrence, known to teen-age girls throughout the country who have attended Toka's Retreats in the mountains of several states; Daisy Chamness, famous masseuse; Emily White, national Girl Scout leader; Ruth Weinger of Weinger Playground fame; Blanche Anderson and Evelyn Wunsch, orthopedic experts by whose services thousands of young Americans have walked were all included in the celebrations. Helen Cohen, tennis pro, whose sports shop has made Cohen fashions the best in sports attire also attended.

Rebecca Talley, head mistress of the select Miss Talley's School for Girls; Virginia Gaylor, prominent research educationalist in the field of experimental schools; Rachel Bright, principal of the Schools for Gifted Children; Virginia Howell, head of employment service located in Raleigh, N. C.; Bertha Ammons, famous as the primary teacher who improves small children's sense of rhythm with instructions in the once-popular folk dance—the jitterbug; Elizabeth Quinn of Miss Quinn's Nursery School for Quintuplets; Sarah Austin, mathematician with the department of Honest Weights and Measurements in Raleigh; Julia Fuller, head of American Youth Hostels in the south; Marie Dimmette who is at work on an English textbook for high school students; Eloise Herring, prominent lecturer on nursery school techniques; Jane Herring, supervisor of art in New York state; Elise Thompson, principal of the progressive Chadbourn high school; Edith Daniel, Merchandiser of French dolls; Doris Butler, head of the Doris Butler charm school whose famous slogan "Indifference is the answer" has introduced a new element into the personality of educated American women; and Eleanor Bell, president of the National Education association also attended the gathering.

Prominent women of affairs in the Alumnae house today included: Grace Harding, charming air hostess who doubled the popularity of aeroplane travel with her well-trained corps of girl hostesses; Marion Okell, social director of the Astor hotel; Beth White, whose famous satires on ballet and modern dance are said to surpass the acting of the once-famous Charlie Chaplin; Jean Cooney, G.O.P. campaign manager; Maxine Eiland, expert and internationally known authority on contract bridge; Margery Faison, designer who has made the three words, "Gowns by Faison" a box office attraction; Lois Guyer, publisher of rare books; Katherine Rimmer, famous head of "Children's Town," N. C.; Ann Fox, registrar at Alabama Polytechnic institute at Auburn, Ala.; Annie Lee Knox, president of the American Home Economics association; Alice McDowell, singer of radio fame as the star of the "Optimism" programs; Elizabeth Ellis Guian, party planner for the nation, successor to Elsa Maxwell; Mary Cecile Higgins, head of Stage Managers Company, Inc.; Jennie Sewell Marks, interior decorator whose symbol, a football, is the last word in recreation furnishings.

Elizabeth Randle, national head of 4-H club work; Eunice Outlaw, made famous by the slogan of her tea rooms "In-laws Get Along at Outlaw's"; Sara Keller, lecturer on "Educating the American Campus"; Edith Turner, superintendent of the great Turner Hospital, outstanding in its work with the mentally diseased; Joyce Rouse, dietitian at Woman's College; Mary Ellen Hege, district attorney in Philadelphia; Elizabeth Leary, librarian of the Congressional library in Washington; Mary Ruth Cochran, program director of the National Broadcasting company; Mary Louise Riddick, professor of Romance languages at Woman's College (authority on Scotland Neck dialects); Janette Thornton, president of the Senior League and adviser to young pages; Emily Siler of the Foreign Policy association of New York City who gained her present position with her real ability to talk more rapidly than the average foreigner; Editha Morris, builder and financier of Tarboro's Great Aquacade

Senior of '40 looked back—

It seemed only yesterday that she stood in line to get her courses for the first semester arranged. How her feet ached when it was all over!

And the next week wasn't much better. She wished they would open the new dorm so everyone could settle down to a normal life.

There was a new dining room too. Eating there was almost like attending the Faculty-Senior Banquet, the high-light of the whole year—well, anyway it was one high-light. The Senior-Faculty Party was swell too.

It seemed odd to attend senior functions. Even at the Junior-Senior Dance she felt like a member of her sister class.

But one couldn't forget always! Not with those horrid comprehensives hanging around until April 20. Why did Senior of '40 have to be the first to pass that belt? She dreaded them so that the administration gave her two days in which to gather up her nerves, but that only meant there would be no Senior Day.

Still there was a senior class chapel program and the senior formal. That much of the old tradition survived.

And the senior unmusical. . .

But it wasn't funny when the class of '40 filed out from the lost mass meeting singing those words which are ever true:

"We praise thee today, our fair College."

Then there were those last weeks bringing a tea from Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Jackson, the Alumnae Reception, the Commencement Ball, and finally—a diploma.

Senior of '40 looked back and saw it all, but one cannot live in the past forever; so she turned and walked toward the future.

We, the class of 1942,
Sincerely offer our loving hearts to you
We raise our voices, loud and strong
To make our words prolong.

We, the class of 1942,
Lift our voices in a song to you.
Our praise for you will never, never end
So let our voices blend—as we all

Promise you our faith and loyalty,
Serving and honest, we will always be
To dear old W. C. of U. N. C.
We give our hearts to thee.

Our ever shining colors, green and white,
Will never fail to be our guiding light.
We'll keep our spirits high and upright
For the school of gold and white.

SOCIETIES

The social life of the college centers around its four societies, the Adelpian, the Aletheian, the Cornelian, and the Dikean. Membership in these societies is optional, but few, if any, regular students fail to identify themselves with one of the four groups.

These social organizations are managed entirely by the students themselves, the members of each electing officers and leaders for that particular group from its own numbers. Every year each group also elects eight marshals who act as hostesses for the college at all concerts and lectures.

However, the main aim of the college societies is to offer numerous opportunities for friendship and social experiences. Informal teas, dances, parties, Sunday afternoon open houses, Sport's Day, and an annual formal dance are some of the interesting events of a society's social year.

When a college year is over, a yearbook provides the most valuable means of recalling all those happenings and persons that once were a part of our everyday life. Therefore, the 1940 PINE NEEDLES has sought to portray a year at Woman's College, and in particular, the year of 1939-40. It is the purpose of the annual to leave a record valuable to all those connected with the college. The division headed ADMINISTRATION gives the administrative set-up of the college, CLASSES include pictures of all those who have lived and worked here this year, ORGANIZATIONS depicts the societies and clubs that have meant so much to us in our college life, and the miscellaneous pictures of campus scenes and campus people will, we hope, in the future, arouse happy memories of your days at Woman's College.

The Carolinian, the student newspaper, appears each Friday afternoon of the college year except during the weeks of examination and vacation. The Editor-in-Chief is elected by the entire student body from the incoming senior class in the spring of each year to serve from that May until the May of her graduation year. A business manager appointed by the editor heads the staff which is in complete charge of the advertising and financial department of the publication.

In its editorial, feature, and news columns, the Carolinian has one purpose—to reflect with honesty and intelligence the Woman's College community, in its weekly activities.

Formerly the societies, organized for literary purposes, originated the idea of a campus literary magazine, and gave it the name it still bears, CORADDI (CORnelian, ADELphian, DIkean). Recently the magazine has become an independent publication edited and managed by students with advice from the faculty. It offers to any person of artistic or literary talent a chance for expression.

NANCY L. YATES. Editor-in-Chief

PEARL LINDLEY SYKES. Business Manager

The Handbook, published each year, contains information concerning the Student Government Association, religious activities, publications, departmental and social clubs, and the athletic association. It is an aid to both old and new students.

The Editor is elected by the junior class in the spring of each year, and a Business Manager is appointed by the Editor.

To the new students the Handbook gives an insight into what a well rounded life at Woman's College is like, and gives them information about how they may take part in the campus life.

HOME ECONOMICS HONOR SOCIETY

ELOISE HERRING President
MAMIE GRACE SMITH. Secretary
MARTHA PLONK. Treasurer

The Home Economics Honor Society recognizes and promotes scholarship and leadership in the field of Home Economics. The active membership of the local organization consists of juniors and seniors majoring in Home Economics who, during their college course, have maintained high standards of scholarship and leadership, thereby giving promise of achievement.

INTER-FAITH COUNCIL

OFFICERS:

ANNE TILLINGHAST President
THERESA SNOW Secretary,

The Inter-Faith Council, which is composed of representatives from each of the church groups and the Y. W. C. A., gives opportunity for better understanding among religious faiths and develops a sense of unity in diversity and of a common purpose. It serves as a clearing house for activities of all religious groups. It sponsors Dormitory Devotional services, a coordinated community service program, Inter-Faith conferences, and cooperates with the administration in sponsoring the University Sermons.

The Young Woman's Christian Association is the non-denominational religious association on campus. The Freshman Clubs which all freshmen and commercial students may join are planned to help students become adjusted to the new environment on campus and to the Christian Association program. The Sophomore group through regular meetings and project work studies and carries forth the Christian Association program. The Cabinet, a group of thirty-seven girls outstanding in their respective field of interest, works cooperatively to make religious activities a vital part of college life for themselves and for others through the Christian Association program for which they are responsible. Sunday evening vesper, International week-end, discussion groups, social action and community service, deputations, and cooperation in Religious Emphasis Week and a Refugee campaign have been features of the program this year which show it is designed to meet the needs and interests of all members of the student body. At all times the "Y" at Woman's College unites with the Y. W. C. A's everywhere in the purpose to realize a full and creative life through a growing knowledge of God; to make this life possible for all people; and, to seek to understand Jesus and follow him.

The Town Students' Association, composed of all students who do not live on the campus, functions in much the same way as a campus hall unit. It is represented in the Legislature and has its own Judicial Board, which is made up of the officers and a representative from each class. The Town Students' room, in the Administration building, is attractively furnished and is conveniently located for all those who have time to come in for a chat between classes, and to keep in touch with the campus activities from the bulletin boards.

The Band, directed by Mr. George E. Henry, was organized in the spring of 1936. It has the great distinction of being the first college band in this country composed entirely of women. The purpose of the band is three-fold: it offers recreation and musical enjoyment to its members; it contributes to the musical advancement of the entire college; it provides a working laboratory for instrumental public school music students. During the fall season the emphasis is on such traditional band activities as marching, playing for athletic events, and participating in a small number of worthy community projects and celebrations. In the winter the Band functions as a concert and symphonic organization.

The Sociology Club was organized last year by a group of sociology majors and other interested persons. Its primary aim is a broadening of the viewpoints of its members by studies of social problems with special emphasis upon inter-racial questions. Surveys are a source of major interest for the Club. The students not only conduct the surveys but organize the final data and statistics as well. Also guest speakers, special reports by members, discussions of case work procedure are a part of the annual program of the Club.

OUR FACULTY SPONSOR

This year the Zoology Field Club's page is dedicated to its faculty sponsor, Dr. Archie D. Shaftesbury. Present and past members of the club realize that this is an honor long overdue. For many years Dr. Shaftesbury has worked with enthusiasm for the advancement of the study of zoology.

Not only at Greensboro has his work touched the lives of many students, some of whom have gone on to graduate study and advanced degrees, but, through his efforts, we have been enabled to appropriate the zoological resources of North Carolina in a larger way. Our marine laboratory at Beaufort came to reality largely as a result of his enthusiasm, continued effort, and personal sacrifice.

In addition to Dr. Shaftesbury's contributions as teacher and organizer, his work in research on the morphology and taxonomy of certain insects has won him wide recognition.

The Square Circle, which is seemingly impossible, was proved possible thirteen years ago by the mathematicians on our campus. Since that time the Square Circle has played a "square" part in the campus life of the Mathematics students. This club serves, by its monthly meetings, to promote interest in phases of mathematics apart from the classes, and it affords the members a means of getting better acquainted. Two meetings of the year have special importance: the February meeting, which is devoted to the initiation of new members, and the May meeting, an outdoor picnic at which the officers for the coming year are elected.

The Young Republicans got off to an enthusiastic start in February, 1940. This group of about fifty members realized the importance of election year, and gathered to learn more about the Republican candidates and policies.

The first big project was to hold a "National Convention". The plan of the party National Convention was followed as closely as possible. Each "state" (dormitory) sent its delegates, pledged to vote for a certain candidate. The convention named its choice for the Republican nomination and laid down a platform for the party to follow. The club also helped sponsor Mr. Thomas E. Dewey's visit to this state.

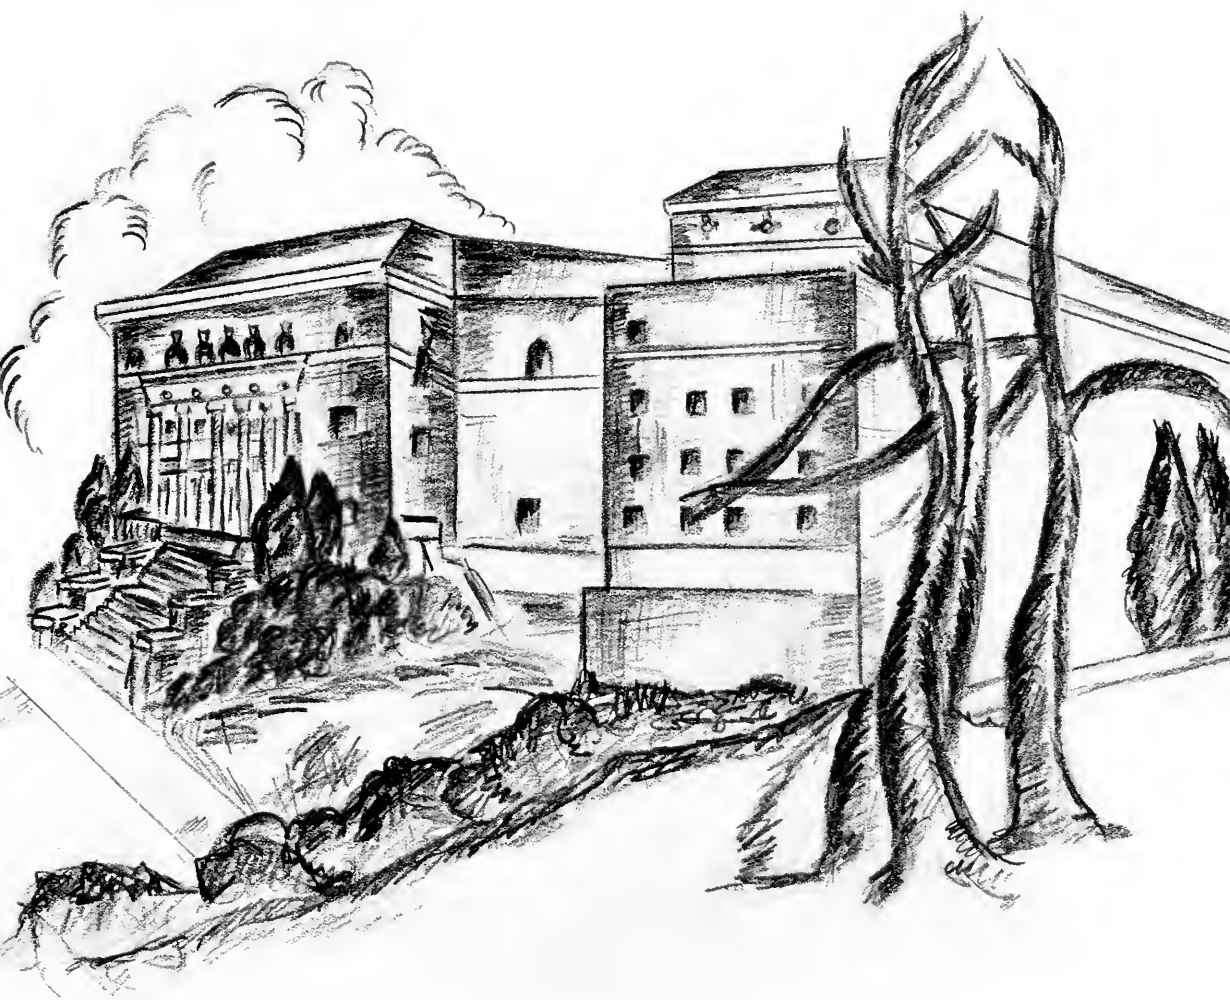

But all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy. So the club varied the program with teas, supper meetings, and a few get-togethers with other college organizations in North Carolina.

APPRECIATION

It has been a task—compiling this volume of the PINE NEEDLES, but it has also been a privilege. To the many trials and tribulations which we have suffered there have been added from time to time much pleasure and satisfaction, and there are many whose kind assistance and helpful advice have succeeded in lessening the trials and increasing the pleasures. Although the days frequently came when we were ready to fold our hands as a quiet sign of resignation, we did not give up. At last, after much hard effort on the part of all concerned, the task has been done! We wish to thank those who have made it possible and, we hope, successful.

First, we thank the Faculty Advisory Committee for its earnest work in our behalf, and especially to Miss Largent, its Chairman, we want to express our sincere appreciation. Her valuable assistance and deep interest have ever been a light leading us on. To Dr. Kohler and Mr. Ivy, who have had a large share in preparing this edition, we want to tender a word of recognition.

And lastly, we thank our advertisers, our contributors, and all those who have helped to make this annual a reality. Those who have written, those who have suggested, those who have encouraged—we thank you all!

DR. KOHLER, MR. IVY, MISS LARGENT

FEATURES

Personality, charm, and achievement—on these next pages we glimpse the eight girls who were selected from the Senior Class as the outstanding leaders during our four years of college life, eight girls who have done much to fill our hearts with happy memories. To these girls we pay honor.

Christine Changaris has brought the beauty and accomplishments of an artist to our college life. To the class, to our social life, and to the individual, Christine has given a new beauty and interpretation of life.

Celia Durham has given her services faithfully and sincerely to the class. As Vice-President of the Student Government Association, with capable guidance she leads the legislative body of Woman's College. Her smiling face and charming manner make her known and loved by all her classmates.

Ruth Gilmore, President of Student Government Association, has given her loyalty, her effort, and her character to our college. She leads a group of two thousand women in a college community distinguished for its democracy. Ruth holds a cherished place in the affections of her classmates because she represents the high standards of thought and action that Woman's College is built upon.

Ellen Griffin, President of the Athletic Association, is a recognized leader on our campus. She believes in a spirit of play for its own sake; not only to promote health and physical efficiency, but to develop sportsmanship, leadership, and service.

Eunice King is President of the Y. W. C. A. To her religion is a way of life, a way of thought, and she has done much to make it a part of our college experience.

Grace Evelyn Lovina, as editor of the college's weekly newspaper, the CAROLINIAN, has done much, editorially, to develop a more nearly perfect community among the students and faculty members of Woman's College.

Valerie Powell presides over the activities of the Senior Class as its Chief Executive, and leads her class always in its motto to "Seek higher things".

Muriel Qua has been an outstanding leader in many phases of college life. As House President, president of a society, and in many other offices, she has served faithfully and sincerely.

Each year the students of Woman's College anxiously await the coming of May Day. When that day arrived this year, Cinderella stepped from the pages of fairy books and became a living reality. First she was seen at home drying her wet eyes and bidding her gracious Godmother farewell. Then, the scene changed, and Cinderella was at the ball. Soon, however, she was back at home again eagerly waiting to try on the slipper which the Prime Minister carried, and, of course, when she did try it on it was a perfect fit. The heralds' trumpets sounded and Cinderella, again changed into her beautiful clothes by the fairy Godmother, was led towards the waiting Prince. Followed by the entire court the Prince led his new-found treasure to the throne where she was crowned Queen of the festival.

To the entire student body who helped to make this May Day a success by cooperating with members of the Senior Class, we wish to express our deep appreciation.

FALL SPORTS

MAJOR SPORTS

LIFE SAVING

EMILY WHITE.....Sport Leader

MISS MIRIAM SHELDEN.....Faculty Head

The life saving courses sponsored by the Athletic Association present an efficient program of valuable training in water safety. The three divisions of the work are: life saving and water safety instructorship presented by the field representative of the American Red Cross, senior life saving as a major sport, and life saving as a credit course in the Physical Education Department presented by faculty and student heads.

HOCKEY

ALICE SUITER.....Sport Leader

MISS CHRISTINE WHITE..Faculty Head

Hockey is a major sport of the fall season. Practices are held twice a week, and this year approximately one hundred girls participated in the sport. The senior team won the final tournament by defeating the all-freshman team.

A great deal of interest and enthusiasm was shown in Hockey Day which was held on our campus this year and which brought together hockey players from five colleges for a day of fun and excitement. Eight girls from Woman's College were named on the Hockey Day honorary varsity team: Mary Margaret Binford, Louise Meroney, Dorothy Douglas, and Alice Suiter were named on the first team, and Elizabeth Lamb, Betty Lippman, Dorothy Coley, and Motoaka Torrence on the second team.

Those chosen for honorary varsity from the four class teams were Dorothy Coley, Ellen Griffin, Ruth Gillmore, Motoaka Torrence, Rebecca Woosley, Alice Suiter, Betty Blauvelt, Dorothy Douglas, Mary Margaret Binford, Polly Sottler, Lois Guver, Anna Stone Railey, Louise Meroney, Elizabeth Lamb, and Ruth Porter.

MINOR SPORTS

VOLLEY BALL

LAURA LOVE MAYO.....Sport Leader

MISS ANNA SCOTT HOYE.....Faculty Head

Volley ball, a minor sport, is offered once a week during the fall season. Approximately sixty girls participated this year. Varsity includes: Laura Love Mayo, Anna Stone Railey, Rebecca Woosley, Edna Gibson, Anne Pearce, Connie Edmundson, Ruth White, and Aida Epps.

SPEED BALL

Speedball, a popular fall sport, meeting once a week attracted over sixty girls this year. The seasonal practices are brought to a close by a tournament held between the classes and by the selection of an honorary varsity.

LORA WALTERS.....Sport Leader

MISS HENRIETTA THOMPSON....Faculty Head

WINTER SPORTS

MAJOR SPORTS

BASKETBALL

MATOAKA TORRENCE.....Sport Leader

EDNA GIBSON.....Sport Leader

MISS CHRISTINE WHITE.....Faculty Head

Intramural and interclass basketball furnished an interesting winter sport for three hundred girls. Twenty-eight teams were divided into four leagues forming the Jacksonian Tournament. Class teams played a Round Robin Tournament.

1940 Varsity includes: Frances Radford, Bess Gilliam, Sara Walker, Cornelia Edmondson, Jerry Rogers, Nellie Gravely, Rebecca Pratt, Mary E. Jordan and Betty Jean Sandel.

SWIMMING

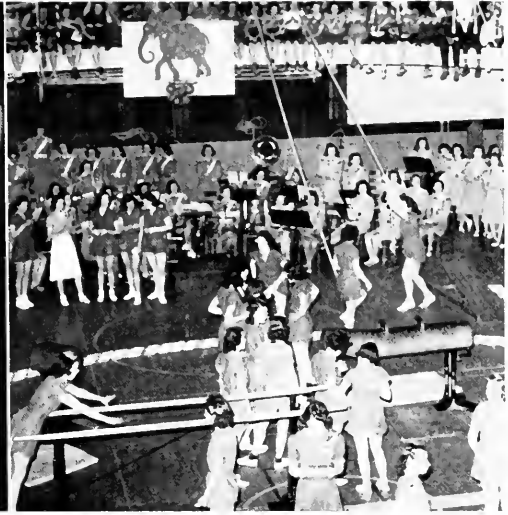

ELEANOR WADE.....Sport Leader

MISS HENRIETTA THOMPSON.....Faculty Head

The 1939-40 practice season was terminated by a swimming meet which was combined with the Dolphin Pageant. The meet, instead of being based on class competition as has been the rule heretofore, was based on squad competition. The squads, composed of several members from each class, were named the Yokums and Scraggs respectively. After a feud between these two tribes, the Yokums were victorious. The events included in the feud were novelty relay races, water games, comic diving and a water baseball game.

GYMNASTICS

- DOROTHY COLEY.....Sport Leader
- MISS DOROTHY DAVIS.....Faculty Head
- MISS ETHEL MARTUS.....Faculty Head

Gymnastics is the minor sport during the winter season. Apparatus, stunts and pyramids provided fun and tested the ability of both tenderfoot and advanced participants.

This year the annual gym meet was disguised as a circus with Mr Painter as ringmaster

1940 Gym Varsity: Matoaka Torrence, Edna Gibson, Annie Mae Parrish, Lora Walters, Alice Suiter, Dorothy Coley, Marion Okell, Alice Calder, Lena McFadyen.

SPRING SPORTS

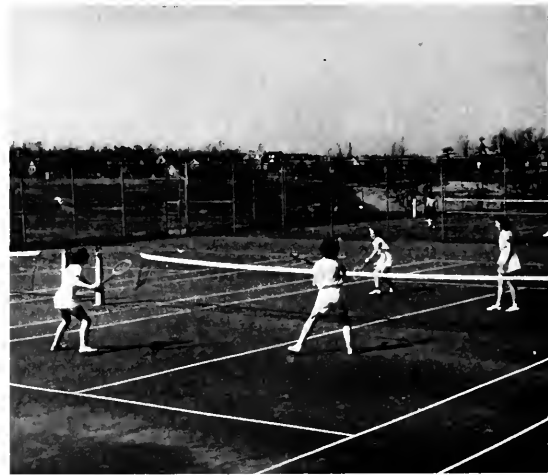

MAJOR SPORTS

TENNIS

- MARGARET KENNETTE.....Sport Leader
- MISS DOROTHY DAVIS.....Faculty Head

Tennis is officially a major spring sport yet it continues for almost the entire school year. During the fall, there are elimination tournaments in both doubles and singles. The doubles were won by the team composed of Marjorie Harrell and Eloise Newell; the singles by Mary Margaret Binford

In the spring there are class practices supervised by Miss Dorothy Davis who is assisted by several student coaches. During this season there is instruction for beginning, intermediate, and advanced groups. The season is climaxed by the participation of the class teams playing a ladder tournament. The top ranking players from these teams play in the final matches on an elimination basis between the classes. These tournaments challenge the ability of as many girls as wish to come out

BASEBALL

ANNIE M. PARRISH.....Sport Leader
MISS ETHEL. MARTUS.....Faculty Head

In the spring at college as well as in the cities our minds turn to baseball. This year we played not only baseball but also softball. At the climax of each season two honorary varsities are chosen to play with the men and women faculty. President Frank Porter Graham comes over each spring and participates in the annual faculty-student game. The faculty participation adds much interest to the spring sport of baseball.

MINOR SPORTS

ARCHERY

JEAN CHURCH.....Sport Leader
MISS CHRISTINE WHITE.....Faculty Head

Archery devotees bring out their bows and arrows each spring for this minor sport. Practicing once a week, it has met the requirements of many girls who enjoy this less strenuous recreation. More enthusiasm than ever before has been shown this spring by the number of participants out. The class championship and the honorary varsity is determined by those who rank the highest in the Senior Columbia Round which is shot at the end of each spring season. The class of 1941 won the round in 1939. Since care and the correct use of equipment is taught, archery has more of a carry-over value than just learning to hit a bull's eye.

GOLF

DOROTHY DENNIS, Sport Leader
MISS ETHEL MARTUS, Faculty Head

Golf is a new sport introduced last spring, under the supervision of Miss Ethel Martus. In the spring, lessons are offered to those who are beginners or to those who desire additional instruction. Sixty girls were out for it this spring, thus proving how worthwhile it is. The practices are held on our own course and at Starmount Country Club. At the end of the practice season class teams are chosen and the top ranking participants from each class play in elimination matches with the other classes.

In the fall an individual competitive tournament is held. This is played on an elimination basis irrespective of class. Those who participated this fall were Dorothy Lovell, Ann Pike, Dorothy Douglas, Jean Yates, Kay Coan, Ruth Palmer, and Dorothy Dennis. Both Dorothy Douglas and Jean Yates were winners because the final match was not played.

Society Sports Day is a day of fun sponsored by the four societies on our campus and the Athletic Association. Classes are dismissed for the afternoon and all members of the societies come out and compete with members of the other three societies in all types of games, swimming and field events.

All participants assemble at the color poles in the early afternoon. There, the society presidents give Dr Jackson the color bands. For the remaining part of the afternoon the students play bridge, badminton, horseshoes, softball and many other games. Each year there are several new events. This spring we had boccee, similar to bowling on the green, and bingo.

This year President Graham came over and played in one of the softball games. The Juniors provided a refreshment stand for all the participants and spectators.

As a climax to the afternoon there is a banquet in the dining hall for all participants. At this time the Athletic Association awards are given to those girls who have received one thousand to three thousand points by coming out for the afternoon sports. Miss Coleman presents the Physical Education department award to the senior who has done the most for the department. Finally President Graham awards the cup to the winning society. Last year the Adelpian Society won the cup for the third consecutive time.

After the banquet there is informal dancing in the gymnasium. During this time the Clagging Club gives its annual dance program.

Since its reorganization, the archery club has grown from a small group of enthusiasts to an organization of twenty-eight members. Archery has become a favorite activity on campus this year. Much of this enthusiasm is due to the active part played by these girls who are fortunate enough to belong to the Targeteers.

Highlights of this season were invitation shoots with other schools, indoor shoots for the club members, parties with novelty events and various meets.

Bronze, silver, and gold keys are awarded to the members who succeed in making the highest scores of the year.

The club hopes to continue to fulfill the desires and the needs of the campus for both the novice and the advanced archer.

The riding club was reorganized this year so that there is a vice-president representing each stable used by the girls. Membership is based on the horsemanship and ability of each applicant.

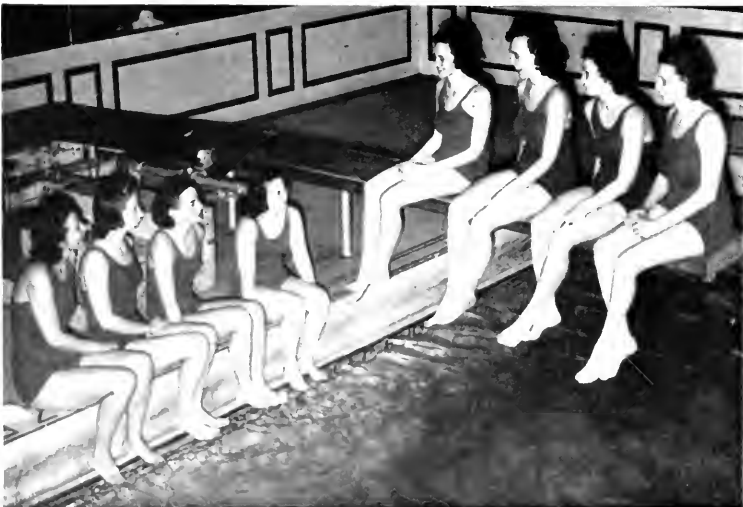

The group was addressed by several interesting speakers at their formal meetings. Horse shows, picnics, polo matches and get-together rides featured the more informal meetings.

 MISS HENRIETTA THOMPSON.....Faculty Adviser

This year seventy girls enjoyed square dancing where they learned dances of Western North Carolina. Miss Henrietta Thompson, faculty adviser for the club, has been assisted in calling the figures and presenting new steps by students who have had such experience before.

As a climax, the square dance club sponsored a barn dance as a co-recreational party.

Modern dance group is organized to provide opportunities for advanced work in creative expression unique to the dance.

This year orchesis presented a program in chapel demonstrating a composition. In April the group gave its annual recital. A junior orchesis has recently been formed.

Student Life

STUDENT LIFE

Our interest in school work doesn't end when we leave class. The American History Discussion group, newly organized this year, met semi-monthly, to discuss questions of interest concerning American history, which were aroused in class but for which there was not time to fully discuss. Marilyn Parlelew is the president for next year and Dora Oliver is the new secretary.

For outstanding work in their chosen field several students have received scholarship administered by the college

Jane Dupuy, of the class of '37 was awarded the Henri Weil Fellowship last commencement. This is the highest honor a senior can win. Jane is studying medicine at the University of North Carolina this year.

The Mina Weil Scholarship was divided between Claire Hughes, Almeta Pleasants, Cora Page Godfrey, and Dora Oliver. All of these students have done outstanding work during their college careers.

Because of their outstanding work in the English department Margaret Coit and Eleanor Ross received the Winfield Scholarship

Georgia Keeter received the Bynum Scholarship this year and as an outstanding student in mathematics, Mary Betts Brown received the Menclenhall Scholarship

Not only are these students outstanding academically, but they take an active part in all phases of school life

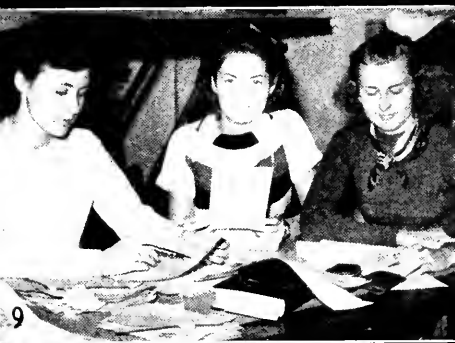

The North Carolina Division of the United Daughters of the Confederacy gives eight scholarships, based on academic records, to students at Woman's College

Two members of the Freshman Class this year made all A reports, Elizabeth Mitchell, a home economics major, and Constance Sweeney, who is majoring in art

Each Thursday afternoon at 5:15, some department of the college sponsored a radio broadcast to show the public some of our accomplishments here in college. The Music department was especially outstanding in the programs it gave and one of its programs was broadcast over a national hook-up. Elizabeth Holmes and Helen Forester wrote the script for the broadcasts and Dr. Ruth Hanna served as faculty adviser.

The College Social Committee, headed by Elizabeth Ellis, College Social Chairman, is composed of the social chairmen from each of the residence halls. They plan teas, parties, and other phases of campus social life, and sponsor five informal dances throughout the year

The Alumnae Association honored the Seniors at a reception at Alumnae House to meet Mrs. Clyde R. Hoey, First Lady of North Carolina, and her daughter, Miss Isabel Hoey. The outstanding event of the evening was an informal talk by Mrs. Hoey to the Seniors upon preparing for the life they will enter into after graduating from college. Members of the Faculty, who are alumnae, poured tea and served refreshments.

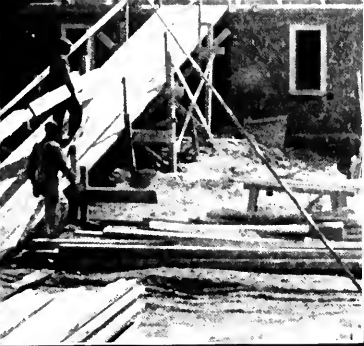

STUDENT LIFE Continue:

Parents' Day is a comparatively new feature at Woman's College, a day especially set aside for parents to visit the campus and witness typical college life and meet the faculty and school friends of their daughters. Parents gathered on the quad in the early afternoon and were welcomed by Dr. Jackson. After a tour of the campus and the traditional May Day exercises at 4:30 in the afternoon, parents were guests of the school at dinner in the dining halls with the May Queen and her court as official hostesses.

One of the most enjoyable events on the Senior's calendar was the Faculty-Senior Begimment, a new form of the annual party given by the Faculty in honor of the Senior Class. Various members of the faculty impersonated members of the class. Miss Mary Petty was in charge of the plans for the Begimment.

One of the most hilarious events of the year was the Senior Unmusical, with Ellen Griffin as "master of ceremonies." Seniors impersonated faculty members while the faculty and student body sat back and laughed.

Something new on our campus this year was the Mill Bar, the only one of its kind in the South. Evelyn Brown was the very original designer of the bar, brilliant with its neon lights and designed in typical bar fashion. An I.M. Fred Haugh was present manager of the Tavern.

Greater University, Da., in which the University at Chapel Hill, State College at Raleigh, and the Woman's College take part, was held last fall on the campus of the University. This was the last of the annual State-

Carolina football game. Sponsors from Woman's College—Puth Gillmore, Celia Durham, Valerie Powell, Mamie Grace Smith, and Grace Evelyn Loving—were guests of the Carolina Student Government Association for the game, a tea dance, dinner, and the Grail Dance. Before the game the bands from Carolina, State, and Woman's College paraded the field of Kenan stadium. A special train for Woman's College students was chartered, and despite the down-pour of rain, more than five hundred W. C. girls went.
